START MEMO NOMINATING-JUSTIFICATION:

Ms. Elhajj is a well-educated, passionate individual with excellent expertise in international affairs and human rights. Her diverse background includes experience working in three geographic areas - Africa, Europe, and the Middle East.

Naglaa is currently working with local NGO IKV to establish and implement training on basic human rights in Iraq, as well as to set up networks among various existing and new human rights organizations there. The goal is to increase the awareness among Iraqis on the need for basic human rights for all peoples in order to foster a successful democratic state. She is active in meeting and training both women's and student groups, and also frequently meets with journalists. While IKV's previous work in the Middle East was centered in Northern Iraq, they have now expanded to other areas (including Baghdad) and are also working with some Iranian groups. IKV is one of the few Dutch NGOs that has programs on the ground in Iraq. Their support for the advancement of human rights both supports and compliments U.S. goals in the region. Naglaa is at the center of these programs as the project manager for Iraq.

I am nominating Ms. Elhajj for an IV for several reasons.

First, her unique capacity to increase appreciation and acceptance of U.S. policies and goals in the Middle East, especially among the general population, is of significant benefit to the U.S. and helps to fulfill post's MPP goal of regional stability. Secondly, her ability to reach across cultures and borders - as can be witnessed by her work to date - will benefit the U.S. government in the long run as she continues to be active in international human rights and development projects.

Finally, I am nominating Naglaa because her current understanding of U.S. policies comes primarily via media outlets and contacts with Embassy officials. She frequently defends U.S. actions, trying to aid both her local organization and individuals outside the Netherlands in understanding the importance of working towards a world comprised of democratic societies that respect human rights. An IV program would significantly increase her own understanding of official U.S. policies while allowing her to gain a greater appreciation of USA in general. This is an understanding she is craving, and one that both she and I are confident will aid her in her work. It would also allow her the opportunity to meet with various NGOs who are active in pursuing U.S. goals in the international field, including those working in the Middle East.
